

Dearest Margie, Butter, Waverly and Buddy;
Well, kid I suppose we should be answering history questions but I don't think "oh" "Horry" will mind. I'll never forget the good times we've had together. I'm looking forward to this summer when we with our trusty "dubs" guns will trot down the streets of Rock and hook that ole Howard. By dingy! Will use the sledge method. Rather you will. Your pretty goal at that. Remember the time at your party when everyone was getting pleasured with paint, lucky Margie didn't get a jazzy paint job like I did. Remember the night of Wagner's or should I say my Birthday party and C.E. come over.
My, my Margie! We certainly had fun at the basketball game this winter didn't
we. Lets do it again next year.
I want to wish you lotsa luck with "Ted". He is a little off his rocker I think if he doesn't go with you. I bet you had fun with him.
A lot too! and also Bobby. Sleep, sleep. How I envy you with that hunk a man. I bet you'll be hot this summer and don't hook too many of those men.

Love you much and madly,
"Betty"

Dearest Margie, Margie or what the boys call you "lover."

I will never forget all the fun we have had this year, necking and all. I hope that we have as much fun this summer. Wouldn't it be fun to have a monday night every night!!! Remember the monday night when we all got soaked.
It seems you pick the best methods of getting wet, Barker and Kid fingers esp. You certainly give those sudge looks for being such a little girl. Do you think that was very nice making poor little Sam sit in the back seat all by him self. You better watch out because little Bob has really got a build. Remember the night of Rita's birthday party when she kept saying "Oh you kid," Then after while when Chuck came over, my brother came home and all the lights were off, then when we went riding, were you driving??!!
When Chuck took you home what kept you that night??? Don't you love unplanned parties, when you walk to them. Remember those nights at the library, See I like Red hair, I guess you will have to give him a squirt of your trusty "duke" gun. Then he might wake up and realise what a good little girl you are or should I say "trenchie" you are.

I hope that we can have as much fun this summer, and Margie leave some of the men for the other girls & Rochie. "How about that,"
"be good," Lots of love and stuff,
Rosanne

Dear Margie,

Gatto writes small, this is going to take a lot of space. Have you got a hangover from last night? I hate what I thought. I hate makes two of us doesn't it? Didn't we have fun? I think this night for ages and ages! Wasn't it a riot with all those boys and girls? Boy did we catch you! And Bob Rabin saw also, doesn't that make you feel bad? Good, but he is cute!! A graduation night, I live for em.!!!

Do you remember the night we slept over at your house (Clarice & I) and she came after we did and didn't have the faintest idea what was going on? That was sure & funny and we got by with it too! Now we are old now & square deal friends, more or less. But, that's my last time, I'd rather watch someone else do it.

Remember last summer when we had so much fun all the time? And the night we both got stuck, of course we were in different cars, but we THE ROCHORD couldn't help it could we? After all it had been raining and well. PUBLISHED BY sure! You were with Barker that night, THE SENIOR CLASS OF and I still can't see how ROCHESTER SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL I remember ROCHESTER, MINNESOTA I'm strictly "Customs" myself. "Although I must admit I'm a new guy. Dad a new guy is super. Wish you would let me go out with him! Huh huh huh"

And then, there are all the times in Jennie's pick up when we went patting around the country. We run without Jennie's and had lots of fun chasing each other around. (Jennie & I that is!) It's a shame you remember!

Remember that time we to the Old door theater, and you were with Barker and Harry was so mad he broke a bench at St. Mary's Park over a tree. Boy is he strong. Huh and that's the way (I) we like em!!! And that night we went to the late (then) movie with Ed and Harry? I told Ed I liked "Customs"

This Rochord - - - better than I remember and you nearly flapped! Ah yes those were the days, and I sure hope there'll be more of them! I'll always remember you as one of my best buddies and let's always be friends!
I love ya, Pat

ADMINISTRATION

Business Staff

Business Office details demand judgment, as well as efficiency in handling the vast amount of requisitions, reports and supplies necessary to run a system the size of ours. Under the direction of Business Manager, Ralph Dorset these duties are very capably performed.

Board of Education

We are proud of our Board of Education for their willingness to assume the responsibility that is theirs as well as for the fine job they have done in providing Rochester with one of the best school systems in the country. We appreciate what they have done for us.

Mr. Ralph Dorset, manager; Miss Beverly Boelter, assistant; Miss Beverly Overland, assistant; and Mr. Hilbert Kaib, assistant manager.

Administrative ---

The class of 1950 has completed the year in the Rochester High School to face the future in the

It is hoped that the members of the class have gained the essential prerequisites to success in life. They have a knowledge of how to work, the willingness to see a task through to completion and the ability to get along with people.

The best wishes of the faculty and administration go with the class of 1950 as they leave Rochester High School to assume their respective places in life.

N. D. CORY,
Superintendent

--- Personnel

The principal ingredients which make up an outstanding high school, are the students, the total offering of instruction and staff. By applying these criteria, your high school measures up exceedingly well.

For our fine senior class, it is our sincere hope that your varied experiences in Rochester high school have fitted you well for the new responsibilities which you will assume. As you are about to receive your school's official baton and make your departure, we wish for you the greatest degree of success you are capable of attaining.

We anticipate the continuation of pleasant and profitable experiences with those who shall be returning for an additional year or two. To some of you we say, "goodbye," to others we say, "so long" and to ALL of you we say "GOOD LUCK."

T. R. EHRHORN
Principal

Assistant Principal

Capable, understanding, friendly—these are only a very few of the many attributes of our fine Assistant Principal and Girl's Adviser, Miss Lila Argue. Though her day is filled by all the many things to which she must attend, she has never failed to take time out to arrange for conferences or assist us with our personal problems. Throughout our years in senior high she has kept our best interests in mind and has wholeheartedly supported all worthwhile student endeavors whether they were in the field of sports, social activities or academics. For all this we take our hats off to Miss Argue and thank her for her considerate cooperation and her wise guidance through our years at RHS.

Boys' Advisor

The job of Boys' Advisor could hardly be placed in more capable and conscientious hands than in those of Mr. Earle Obermeyer. Through his efforts, together with Miss Argue, the guidance program at RHS is rated as one of the most outstanding in the state. During our past three years he has set for us an example of patience, helpfulness and understanding. His willingness to listen to our problems and his sound advice will long be remembered.

Secretarial Staff

The detail work of handling records, letters and bulletins is delegated to the three secretaries in the persons of Miss Evelyn Duell, secretary to the superintendent; Miss Florence Draskowski, secretary to the principal; and Miss Norma Fredrickson, secretary to the assistant principal. We have appreciated their many courtesies and take this opportunity to thank them.

ENGLISH

Through our English classes we have acquired a respect and an understanding for our language. We have learned to read it, to speak it, to write it, and to listen to it to the best of our individual abilities, with the result that we understand ourselves, our country and our world to a much greater degree. In addition to studying the works of English, American and world authors, students may register for courses in creative writing and journalism. Miss Virginia Alwin is chairman of this, the largest department in school.

MATHEMATICS

Courses in mathematics are so arranged that students receive basic training in accordance with their plans whether they plan to enter business, science or technology. The department under Miss Erickson as chairman offers courses in advanced arithmetic, higher algebra, plane and solid geometry and trigonometry. By careful planning at registration time any of our graduates can be well grounded in the field of mathematics.

SCIENCE

The four divisions of our science department, physics, chemistry, agriculture, and biology are taught so that we may learn their fundamentals and basic theories and apply them to our daily lives. To those who plan to continue in this area, study in our science courses provides an excellent beginning, and to others affords a greater understanding of the complex world about us. The science department is under the chairmanship of Mr. Walter H. Bohner and includes a staff of five members.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Our social studies courses include world history, American history, and social science. World history introduces us to the rest of the world, through the learning of its customs and how they have developed through the ages. American history tells us of the formation of our own country and its governing principles. Social studies explains these political and economic organizations in practise. We also learn about ourselves in this course through the psychology of the individual and the study of the family. Mr. Julius Opheim is chairman of the eight member department.

ART

Art in senior high under the supervision of Mr. Charles Rudkin fills a very necessary requirement in both our curriculum and school activities. The willingness of its director and students in the department to help with all artistic needs of various school organizations through the year has been greatly appreciated. COMMERCIAL

The commercial department, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Wenstrom, prepares students for office jobs, or further college training, in shorthand, typing, stenography, office practice, commercial law, and sales. The students receive excellent training in these fields, and in their regular classes do much work for the city in the writing of form letters.

DRIVERS TRAINING

Drivers training, an answer to a parent's prayer, has been offered as a regular course in Rochester High School for the last three years. We were one of the first cities in the state to give students this opportunity to learn how to drive correctly and safely. The course consists of two one-hour periods each week with one of these periods being spent in the dual-controlled 1948 Pontiac, which was loaned to the school by the Postner and Eggers' Garage. The course is under the direction of Mr. John Steiner, who has received special AAA training to qualify him as an instructor. A Minnesota drivers license is issued to each student upon satisfactory completion of the course.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The foreign language department, headed by Miss Naomi Ramer as chairman, offers students two years of Spanish, two years of German and four years of Latin. These languages are included in the curriculum to give students a better understanding of their own language, and for those planning to enter college they serve to fill college requirements. Those who remain in Rochester after graduation will find Spanish especially useful as a result of the Latin American speaking persons attracted to this city through the Mayo Clinic.

HOME ECONOMICS

Many R.H.S. girls take advantage of our excellent home economics department. Under the direction of Miss Margaret Holmberg, assisted by Miss Jean Kenyon, the girls study and consider homemaking problems. Their units include sewing, food preparation, and the study of homes and home life. Certainly a great many homes of the future will be affected through the work and study done in this department.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

With vocational education as its aim the industrial arts department has endeavored to give the students practical experience in working with metals and with woods. The department, headed by Mr. Raymond Smith, includes courses in auto mechanics, drawing, sheetmetal, printing, and photography. In these courses students are given the opportunity to work with the specialized tools pertaining to the individual course with the result that they learn in which field of endeavor their abilities lie.

MUSIC

The music department, headed by H. LeRoy Lidstrom, includes band, orchestra, chorus, and choir. Through this department students learn to listen to and appreciate the music which they play and sing. They also develop their musical skills, evidence of which is seen at various concerts during the year.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The girls' physical education department headed by Miss Mabel Dickinson is an example of a complete and well-rounded sports program for girls: sports included are swimming, life-saving, volleyball, basketball, rhythm, badminton, and tennis.

Through these courses Miss Dickinson and her able assistant Miss Mildred McComb hope to develop beauty in skills, poise, rhythm of action, and to lay the basis for physical fitness throughout life.

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education for boys offers an opportunity to participate in a total of nine different sports throughout the year which demands a staff of ten coaches under Mr. Robert McNish, athletic director. For boys who do not report for competitive sports the program includes regular physical education classes twice a week. Competitive sports include football, basketball, wrestling, swimming, hockey, baseball, track, tennis and golf and require the use of two gymnasiums, a pool and a 240 acre athletic field.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL

The RHS Student Council, a sounding board for student opinions, is comprised of one member from each homeroom, four elected officers, all class officers, those of the student body who have been appointed by the president to head special committees, and the principal, who holds an advisory position. Some of the high-lighted activities sponsored by council this year were the Homecoming festivities, the school-wide courtesy campaign, and the election of the 1950-51 class and council officers.

The orchestra, under the combined direction of Miss Needham and Mr. Lidstrom, has added much to our appreciation and enjoyment of both classical and semi-classical music. Through much practice and work, they presented three formal concerts as well as playing for the assembly, the big Nine Festival and Commencement. Learning how to work together has been one of the greatest accomplishments of the orchestra. We are all very justly proud of this group of fine musicians and their directors.

The marching band added much zest to the football games at half-time.

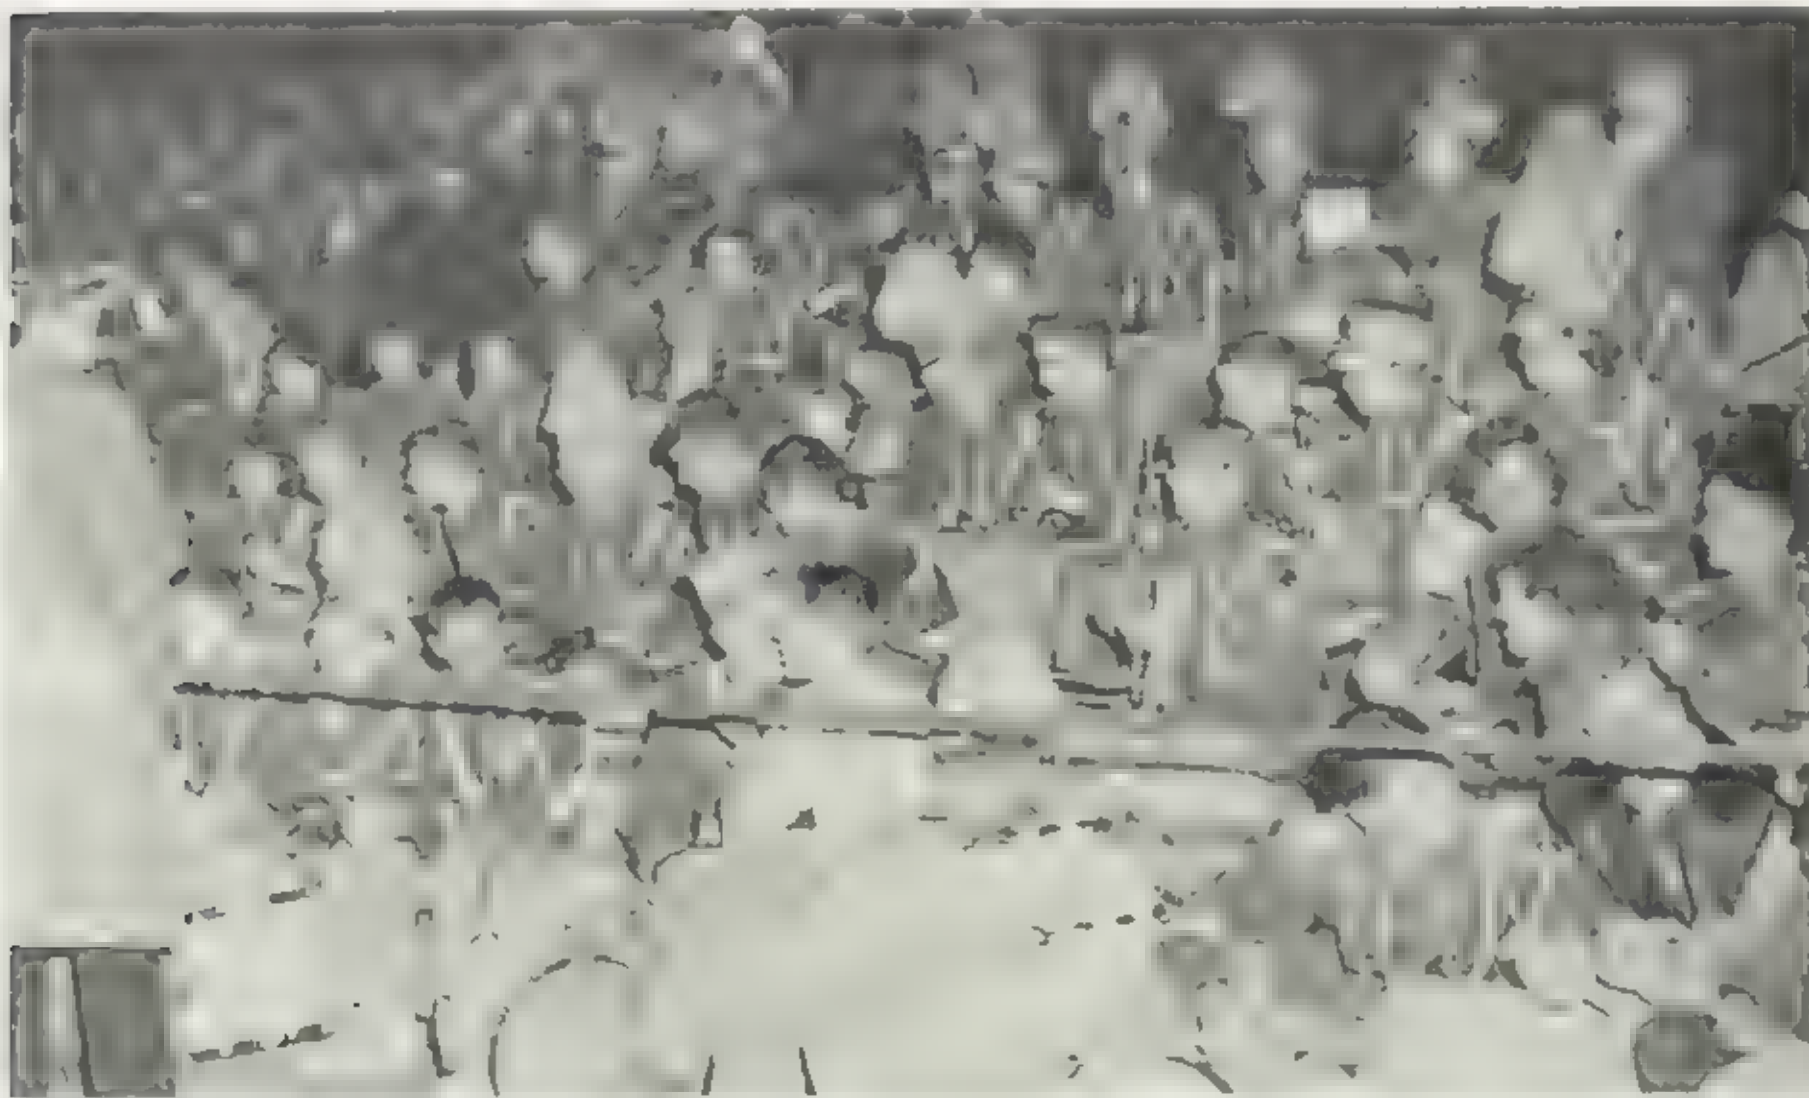

The R.H.S. band members on returning to school last fall faced a busy season. Introducing new formations at football games, leading the homecoming parade, and jazzing the music for the various pep assemblies were some of the activities that kept them occupied.

Under the excellent supervision of H. L. Lidstrom, the band spent much time and practice in preparing for its two concerts; the Winter Concert, February 19, and the Spring Concert, April 26.

Among the other performances were the Big Nine Festival at Red Wing, May 5 and the Memorial Day Parade plus numerous civic functions.

Leading the band on all its marching was Drum Major Dick Gerlach and the snappy majorettes, Dorene Lukehart and Lois Wiebold, Barbara Brown, and Marilyn Betcher.

The officers of the band this year were President Bob Ripple, Vice President Annette Zeek, and Band Manager Bob Weinrich.

Ten points accumulated by participation in production staff or cast makes a person eligible to be initiated into the organization.

Each year the enthusiastic members present plays for the public and also participate in the non-competitive Big Nine Speech Festival, which was held at Winona this year.

The members of the Society chose the following officers: Diane Berryman, president; Ann Christensen, vice-president; and Jean McGhie, secretary.

DRAMA—

A Change of Heart

Jennie, who is a product of her professor father's psychology, is the model child about whom her father's book is written. At the age of seventeen she decides to become more like the other girls in her class. At first, her father doesn't approve of this change, but after many exciting experiences, he decides Jennie has been a laboratory experiment long enough. This amusing comedy was written by Marijane and Joseph Hayes.

The Man on the Stairs

Our spring play, directed by Mr. Moeller, was "The Man On The Stairs," a mystery comedy in three acts by E. Clayton McCarty.

The story was based on Mary Jane Bremmer, a college girl, who thinks she has inherited an old estate from a foster uncle, tries to live in it with her aged aunt. The plot thickens when Jed Stuart, a college man whom Mary Jane is interested in, shows up and helps Mary Jane get the place "organized."

A number of strange happenings disturb the expected peace and quiet when Aunt Molly, whose sense of hearing is phenomenal, hears footsteps and sees a mysterious man on the stairs. A magician and several other claimers to the house make the play exciting and fast moving.

Yearbook work is a cooperative affair; staff members help one another to meet coming deadlines. The editor, Elizabeth French, helps all of them with their individual assignments, and coordinates the work of the section heads, who arrange and plan the contents of the book.

Members of the staff make appointments to have pictures taken, identify the students in the pictures, write identifications for them, and attend meeting after meeting to unite the material to be used in the Rochord. They also must write copy which explains the many activities which we have in our school, and describes the various administrative, faculty, and student organizations and personnel.

After the pictures and copy are ready, the Rochord section heads must plan the page layouts. This is a difficult task, since they must fit photographs and type into a restricted area, and some descriptions may need to be rewritten to fit their spaces. They must also figure dimensions of the pictures, so that they will reduce to the exact degree to which they will fit the layout.

A tremendous amount of time and work is contributed by the staff and their supervisor, Mr. Barber. Their efforts, together with your cooperation with them, made it possible to publish your achievements.

The Rocket

Your bi-weekly Rocket begins in the minds of Ellis Barber, advisor, and George Doty, executive editor, who list possible stories for publication. In the next step, George assigns the stories to the reporters. After the reporters have made their interviews and written their stories, they turn them into the journalism room to be checked for errors by the proof readers and advisor, and put into final form by the typists.

Headlines for the stories are written by the editor; the sports editor, Roger Julin; or the reporters themselves. Any necessary pictures are taken by John Adams, who is the Rocket photographer or by the editor. Next, the stories and their headlines are sent to the printer while the pictures are sent to the engraver. Proofs, when returned, are assembled into the proper layouts on page dummies by the editor, and the dummies are returned to Whiting Press, Inc., who prints the paper.

In the Rocket appear articles pertaining almost exclusively to school activities. The paper follows closely all events in the school.

Under the careful hand of sports editor, Roger Julin, the sports page keeps close tab on the athletic events of the year, and is one of the main features of the paper. A "Letter-to-the-Editor" section not only gives all students the chance to air their "gripes" to the rest of the student body, but suggests many improvements for the school. "Rocket Raters" describes the lives and activities of many senior students, and, of course, everybody knows "In These Our Halls," the Rocket's gossip column.

All in all the Rocket is truly a student publication written by and for the students of RHS.

GIRLS' CLUB

The Girls' Club, an organization open to all senior high girls, is sponsored by Miss Knight and meets twice a month. Besides the interesting speakers and "gab fests," some groups of girls direct, produce, and act out plays for the other members of the club.

Among the social affairs for the year are the annual Girls' Club Christmas party, the Girls' Club dance (an informal all-school affair) the Mother-Daughter Tea, to which all the high school girls and their mothers are invited, and the Mystery Sister banquet where the sophomores find out who the girl is who has been writing to her all year.

Serving on the Central Board are the senior girls who have been outstanding in Girls' Club activities during their sophomore and junior years. From the candidates nominated by the preceding year's officers, the club members elect their next year's leaders.

Officers for the 1949-50 year were Sarah Haines, president; Patricia Hallett, vice-president; Darlene Matheson, social chairman; Judith Watkins, treasurer; and Anita Stewart, secretary.

Future Farmers of America

Formerly called such names as "Future Farmers," "Young Farmers," and "Junior Farmers," the Future Farmers of America had its first national convention in 1928 and has since then extended into forty-seven states, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. This organization is designed to provide additional experience for boys who are progressing toward the goal of satisfactory establishment in a farming business.

Local chapters determine the boy's worthiness to advance into the first two grades of membership;

the state association awards the third degree; and the national organization confers the highest degree. These degrees depend entirely on such things as the individual's investments, farming ability, leadership, earnings, scholarship, and cooperation.

Members learn to preside over and participate in public meetings, speak in public, buy and sell cooperatively, earn, save, and invest money, and how to participate in the affairs of a farm community.

National Honor Society

The purpose of the National Honor Society is to encourage scholarship within the student body at the senior high school level. The annual assembly presented by the Rochester chapter under the guidance of the society's advisor, Miss Naomi Ranner, is one of the most impressive programs of the year.

Students are elected to the society on their achievements in scholarship, leadership, and service plus, qualities of character.

International Relations

The International Relations Club, under the leadership of Miss Phyllis Kloos, has as its purpose the promotion of a better understanding of world peoples and their problems. In accomplishing this, the club enjoys films, parties, and talks about foreign countries. This club has one monthly meeting and, if necessary, a business meeting at noon. Another interesting feature of the International Relations Club is the correspondence between Rochester students and students from other countries.

BRIDGE CLUB

Each Wednesday night after school the ambitious bridge players gather in Coffman Hall for a gay hour and a half of tough competition.

Under the guidance of Miss Anna May Gossman and Mr. Spence Burrington, the players are first divided into two groups—the advanced and the beginners.

An annual tournament for each group is held and enjoyed by all. This year's president was Anita Stewart, and Glenn Patterson served as an assistant director and secretary.

R CLUB

The R Club, sponsored by Mr. McNish, limits its membership to those boys who have earned a letter in high school athletics. The purpose of the club is to improve leadership in sports, encourage high school athletics, and to promote organized good times. These qualities were exhibited by R Club members as they ushered and kept order during basketball games at the auditorium. Planning and organizing the successful R Club dance is the main all-school activity of the R Club members. Officers of the 1949-50 R Club were David Cutshall, president, Jack Williams, vice president; and Richard Christopherson, secretary-treasurer.

Usher Squads

The members of Miss Dickenson's Usher Squad, shown above, are the "unsung heroines" of R. H. S. The girls volunteer their services at plays, concerts, and other special programs given in Central Auditorium. Selling tickets, passing out programs, and showing people to their seats constitute the invaluable service which the members give to our school.

Mr. McKibben's usher squad, shown below, did a wonderful job at the Mayo Civic Auditorium this year. During basketball season the girls pass programs and show people to their seats. The boys lend a "manly" hand with the crowd, and act as guides for officials and members of visiting teams.

SCIENCE

The Science Club, composed of students who are interested in science, under the direction of Mr. Bohner, visits many unusual places throughout the year. The State Hospital, museums, and various laboratories are of special interest to the future scitists. At their regular meetings the members give talks about their special projects. This year Dean Rucker is the vice-president of the Junior Academy of Science. Bob Ripple, Mary C. Hanson, and Gladys Lovelace are officers of the club.

RIFLE

"Safety with Arms" is the motto of the Rifle Club. The membership is forty-five, but another group of forty-five is permitted to shoot. The only requirement for Rifle Club is to have a current "permit card." Members, belonging to the senior high, junior high, and elementary grade schools, have "fired" a club tournament, the quarter finals, the William Hearst Trophy, and represented the 5th Army Area at the rifle meet held at the University on March 18.

As another activity this organization entertained approximately eighteen similar clubs of this southern area.

The senior high members who rank among the leading shooters are John Howell and Bill Prickman.

The sponsors of the Rifle Club are Mr. Julius Opheim, Mr. George Otto, Mr. Paul Schmidt, and Mr. Ted Dieter.

"A" Squad Football

The Rochester Rocket football team seemed to get all the bad "breaks" of the game this season. After starting the year slowly, the Rockets finished with one of the strongest clubs in the Big Nine Conference, although the final standings don't show it. The Red and Black squad ended its season in a tie for sixth place with Northfield and Mankato, winning two out of seven conference tilts for a .286 percentage.

In the initial contest of the season, the Rockets traveled to Winona to meet a tough Winhawk squad. Although the Rocket team gained more yardage than their hosts, a feat, by the way, which it did all season, the Rockets dropped five fumbles to give the Winona club a 12-0 victory. Returning to Rochester for their first home game of the season, the Rockets trounced a weak St. Paul Academy team 28-0 in a non-conference go.

The next game found the Rockets being edged by a revengeful Austin squad 21-13 on the Soldiers Field turf. Following the Austin tilt, the Red and Black journeyed to Albert Lea to attempt to break up the Tiger Homecoming. It was fumbles and bad breaks as usual, with the Rockets emerging with the low end of a 20-13 count.

Homecoming proved to be no inspiration as the Rockets dropped a 13-7 decision to Red Wing. Still trying to break their jinx, the Rockets traveled to Northfield to attempt to get into the win column. Buzz Webster sparked the Rochester club with a 98 yard touchdown run, but the boys dropped the contest to the tune of 13-6.

The Rockets snapped out of it in time to greet the Mankato Scarlets with a 27-0 swamping. The locals held the visitors to a mere 21 yards and two first downs, while the Rocket backs pranced up and down the field all evening.

Then came the game of the year. The second place Owatonna Indians journeyed to the Mayo City for the final contest of the season for both clubs. The Indians, confident of a victory and a possible tie for first place, were stunned when the Rockets marched to an early score to take the lead. The visitors knotted the score late in the same period, and, although the Rockets made several scoring threats and had one touchdown called back, the locals didn't put the winning tally across until the final period. The game ended with the Rockets on top of a 13-7 score, to complete the year with Rochester outscoring its opponents by 107 to 86.

"B" Squad Football

The Rocket "B" squad fared no better than the varsity during the 1949 season, getting but one victory in five contests.

In the opening game of the season, the local "Bees" played host to the Winona scrubs and fell in a 20-6 battle. Gordon Vale racked up the only Rochester score with a 25 yard dash into paydirt. The next week found the Rockets journeying to Grand Meadow to tangle with a tough Grand Meadow "A" squad. The Rochester club was blanked 25-0 for their second loss of the year.

After a two week layoff, the "Bees" met Owatonna on the Soldiers Field gridiron, and proceeded to edge the Indians 14-12 in a thriller. Rochester came from behind to win with a last-second touchdown pass.

Following the Indian contest, the Rocket club just couldn't seem to connect. The Rockets traveled to Northfield and fell to the Raider "B" squad by a 32-6 count in a roughly played game. The next week found the locals ending their season at Austin, going down to a 38-0 defeat.

Gordon Vale is closely pursued by an unidentified Winona "B" gridder as he wheels his way for the only Rochester score in the contest. The Rockets dropped a 20-6 decision to the visiting Winhawks.

BASKETBALL

Rochester's 1949-1950 cagers added another fine chapter to RHS's athletic history as they wound up the season tied for third place in the Big Nine Conference, and then fought their way to third place in the state tournament.

The Rockets hit a stretch of hard luck in the early part of the campaign, losing their first three conference starts by narrow margins. After a breather against St. Paul Wilson, the Red and Black tangled with Faribault. The Falcons once held a thirteen point lead in the third quarter, but the locals battled back to tie the game up, and with only seconds to play, Ray Lee's long shot gave the Rockets their first Big Nine victory. After dropping close contests to St. Louis Park and Albert Lea, the Rockets started to roll. In the final five games of the season, Rochester gained victories over Owatonna, Mankato, Winona, and Northfield, while losing only to Austin, to end the regular season with a 5-5 record in conference play.

Rochester displayed plenty of fighting spirit in the tournaments. The Rockets dropped Winona and Lake City by decisive margins to take their third consecutive District Three crown, and then downed Mabel in the Region One semi-finals. Coming up against a strong Owatonna five in the Region finals, Rochester found itself trailing by from six to ten points during the first three periods. The McNishmen slowly narrowed this margin, and with one minute left, took the lead on Jack William's basket.

The Indians battled gamely down to the final gun, but when the smoke of battle had cleared, the Rockets had taken their second Region One title in as many years by virtue of a 50-47 victory.

Rochester advanced to the semi-finals of the state tourney by downing South St. Paul 44-38 in an overtime thriller. Captain Jim Larson sent the game into overtime with two free tosses in the final seconds, and it was his two baskets in the extra period that spelled disaster for the Packers. Fighting stubbornly all the way, the Rockets were eliminated from the championship bracket when Robbinsdale eked out a 57-55 victory the following night. Rochester trailed by ten points at halftime, but came roaring back to lead 40-38 as the final quarter began. The Red and Black held a slim lead until the Robins jumped to a 56-49 advantage with less than a minute to play. Still fighting, the Rockets narrowed the margin to 56-55, but a last second free shot clinched the victory. Rochester then won a hard-fought 37-34 victory from Canby for third place honors. The Rockets received another honor when Ray Lee was selected on the mythical all-state team.

Rochester outscored its opponents 989 to 854 points in 21 contests during the season. The Rockets averaged 47.1 points per game while their defense allowed the opposition only 40.7 points per contest. Captain Larson led the Rocket scoring with 212 points in 15 games. Ray Lee was second with 208, Fred Hoeft had 143, Bob Harnan made 137, Jack Williams had 110, and Clint Moe came up with 85, each one playing in all 21 contests.

B-Squad Basketball

Coach John Steiner's B-Squad finished the 1949-1950 campaign with a record of 3 wins in 10 starts, including one non-conference game.

The local reserves opened the season by dropping a close 23-25 decision to Red Wing, and then lost 10-42 to Austin and 17-32 to Winona. Rochester picked up its initial win at the expense of Faribault, coming out on top of a 26-23 score. A non-conference tilt found the Bees dropping a 25-35 contest to St. Louis Park, which was followed by a 19-31 loss to Albert Lea's reserves.

The locals annexed their second victory against Owatonna, pounding out a 31-16 decision but then were humiliated by Austin again, this time dropping a 18-51 game. Winona edged out a 32-33 victory over the Rocket reserves and then the Bees finished the season with a 43-41 overtime victory over Northfield.

SWIMMING

Coach Evar Silvernagle and his Rochester High School swimming squad lengthened their undefeated record to twenty-one straight meets during the 1949-50 season as the Rockets won eight contests and tied one.

The local splashers turned in a record equalled by few state tank teams during the past year. Besides winning eight dual meets, the Red and Black mermen took first place in both the St. Paul Winter Carnival and the Big Nine conference battle. Only defeat came in the state meet when they were forced to participate without the services of co-captain Joe Cates.

Twenty records were established by the Rocket finmen during the past season. Mike Spock and Chuck Hines led the locals in setting new marks as both came up with four records. Spock holds two pool marks at Winona and two at Rochester, while Hines has single records at Carleton college, Rochester, Winona and the Winter Carnival.

Only other individuals to set records were Joe Cates and Leo Kreter, both of whom collected one pool mark. Both relay teams set three records, all coming at either Winona, Rochester or the Winter Carnival.

The freestyle relay quartet of Spock, Dick Brehmer, Dave Cutshall and Cates was defeated only once during the entire year, and the medley trio of Hines, Bob Rahm and Cutshall met defeat only twice in eleven meets.

Last time the Rocket splashers were defeated in dual meet competition was on January 29, 1946, when they were downed by Austin.

HOCKEY

After a slow start, the 1949-1950 edition of the Rochester hockey squad became one of the toughest clubs in the region.

Their regular season's record of one win and four losses does not show their abilities, for it was in the regional tournament that the locals hit their stride.

The Rockets dropped their first three games to North St. Paul, Minneapolis West, and St. Paul Academy, respectively, before breaking into the win column. The Rochester six trounced Winona 5-0 on the Mayo Auditorium ice for its first win. In a return match with the Winhawks at Winona, the Rockets dropped a 2-1 decision to end the regular season.

In the opener of the Region II tourney, the Red and Black downed a highly touted St. Paul Park club 7-1. In the next contest, the locals stopped the same North St. Paul squad that had beat them earlier in the season, by a score of 3-1.

In the finals, the Rockets hit a bit of hard luck and missed going to the state tournament when a weak South St. Paul sextette edged the locals 2-1. The Rochester club outplayed the Packers throughout the contest, but couldn't come through with the goals needed to win.

WRESTLING

Under the able coaching of Clyde Ridenour, the Rochester Rocket wrestling squad ended the 1949-1950 season with three wins, two losses, and one tie.

Tough luck dogged the Rockets' footsteps when tournament time rolled around. The locals took third place in the sub-regional tourney, sixth place in the regional, and eleventh in the state meet.

In its first meet, the Rochester squad journeyed to Austin, only to be edged by the Packers by a 22-20 count. Coming back to Rochester, the Rockets easily downed Winona 28-11 for the first win of the season.

After leading most of the way against Faribault, the locals dropped the lead in the last few matches and ended up with a 21-21 deadlock. In the next meet, the Red and Black stopped Albert Lea 22-15 on the Rochester mat.

Northfield fell by the wayside 33-8 in the next clash, but the Rockets couldn't stop Owatonna's powerful Indians, and were defeated 30-11 in the final meet of the season.

Only four Rochester boys survived the sub-regional meet held here. They were Loren Kroening, Marv Rose, Gene Steiger, and Duane Robb. In the regional tourney, only Kroening and Steiger remained unscathed. In the state meet, Kroening stretched his undefeated string until he was stopped in the finals by the state champion. Steiger was downed in the first round by the defending state champ.

Duane Robb warms up by tossing the discus.

Under the direction of Coaches Ridenour and Lutter, the 1949 Rocket track team went through a very successful season. Eight returning lettermen formed the nucleus of the team, which posted a season's record of six wins and one loss. The lone defeat, at the hands of Owatonna by a scant margin of 2/3 of a point, was avenged later in the season when the cindermen dumped the Indians twice by sizeable margins.

The Rockets got off to a fast start by downing Winona and Red Wing in a triangular meet at Winona. The score was: Rochester 70; Winona 44; and Red Wing 26.

At the Carleton Relays, the locals were nudged out of first place by Owatonna by 2/3 of a point. The Indians garnered 29 1/10 points with Rochester's 28 13/30 points good for second place. The thinclads placed in ten of the fourteen events, with Monty Banks winning the 220-yard dash in the record-tying time of 23.5 seconds.

The Rocket squad came roaring back from this defeat to down Austin and Albert Lea in a meet held at Austin. Banks broke the school record for the 220-yard dash with a time of 23.1. The team as a whole garnered nine first places and five seconds, and placed in all 13 events. The final score was: Rochester 89; Albert Lea 67 1/2; and Austin 35 1/2.

The tracksters then downed Winona and Faribault in their only home appearance of the season. Captain Monson with two firsts led the team to a decisive margin of victory. The Rockets took nine first places, placed in

The District III Track Meet was next on the list of victories for the local cindermen as they retained the crown for the fifth straight year. Three records were shattered and one tied by Rochester. Dave Cutshall put the shot a distance of 44'11" to better the old record by $5\frac{1}{2}$ ". Bill Schwanke ran the 440 in the record time of 54.6, and the 880-yd. relay team posted a new mark of 1:37.2. Dick Monson tied the 220-yard dash record of 23.5. The locals wound up with a total of 70 points, with Winona placing second with $45\frac{1}{2}$ counters. Eight Rochester boys qualified for the Regional Meet.

At the Region I Meet, the Rockets' 42 markers was good enough for first place, with Owatonna placing second with 32. Six Rockets qualified for the State Meet.

The Rockets next captured the Big Nine Conference Title for the first time in 13 years. Monson paced the locals as he set two new records for the meet. His time of 10.15 broke an 18 year mark for the 100-yard dash, and his time of 22.7 in the 220-yard event broke a record set by teammate Monty Banks earlier in the season. The Rockets had five firsts as they rolled to an $11\frac{1}{2}$ point victory.

The cindermen closed out the season as they picked up four points in the State Meet to end up in a tie for seventeenth place. Dick Monson was fifth in the 220 while the 880 relay team placed third.

BASEBALL

Rochester's 1949 baseball team had one of its better seasons last year, winning five out of seven contests.

In their first game of the season, the Rockets easily downed Winona by a 8-1 count. Next, the locals split a two-game series with Red Wing by taking the first tilt 9-2 and dropping the second 6-1.

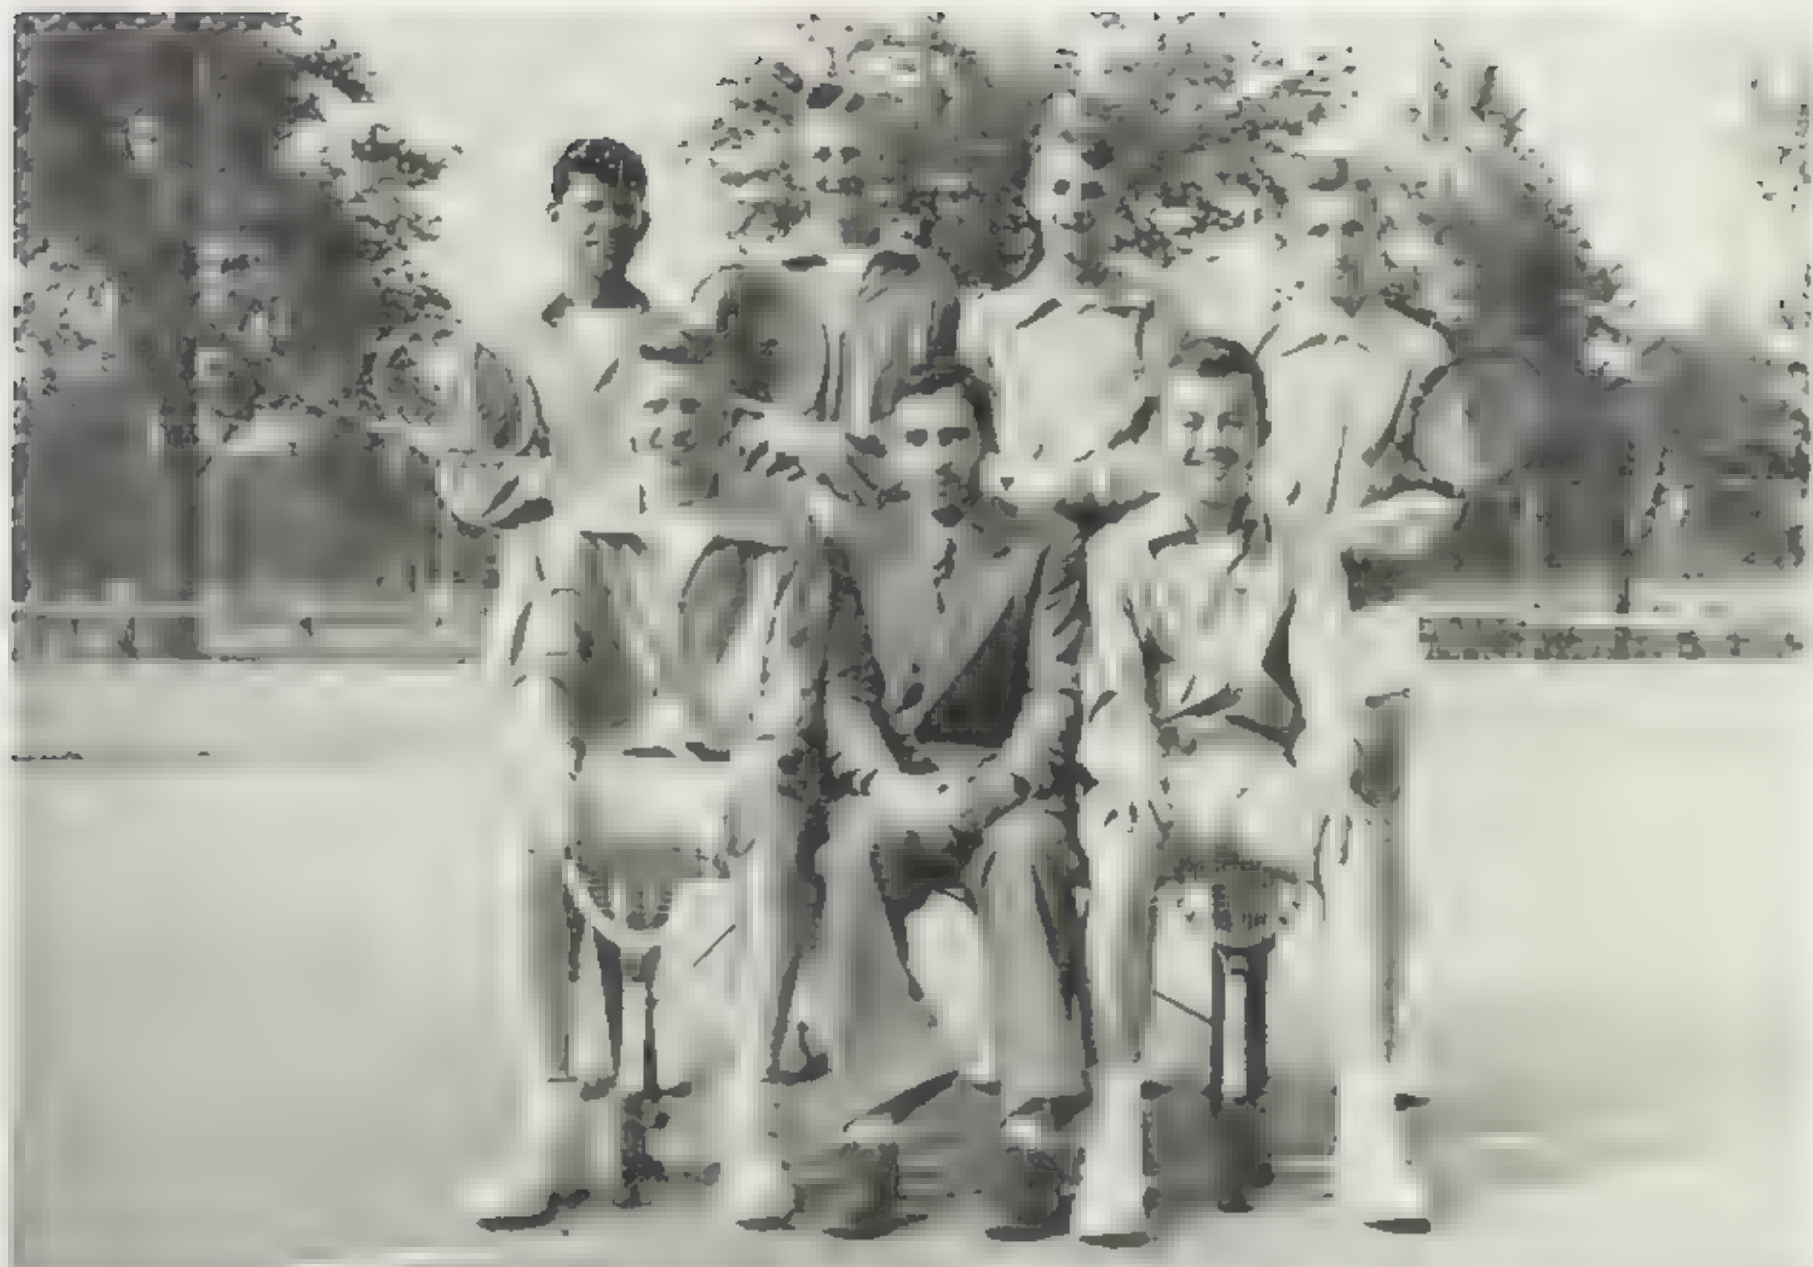

Rochester entered the Carleton tournament and defeated South St. Paul 8-5 in the first game. In the second contest, the Rockets were trailing Robbinsdale by one run when the game was called.

After stopping Winona 5-3, the locals were downed by Austin 12-5 for their only other defeat of the season. In a return match with the Packers here, the Rockets defeated the visitors 8-2.

Although the squad has lost many individual stars as Shorty Cochran, Carl Brunsting, and Bill Smith, this year's team will be bolstered by seven veterans and a host of hopefuls. Boys who will be back are star pitchers Fred Hoeft and Dick Buro, Gene Steiger, Ray Lee, Harold Schroeder, Buzz Webster, and Jim Schulte.

The 1949 Rocket tennis squad had one of the best seasons in many a year, ending the season with an undefeated record and fifth place in the state.

Winona was the only net team able to score against the locals, as the Rockets downed the Winhawks 7-2 and 6-3 in dual meets. Red Wing was blanked 9-0 twice and Mankato was stopped 6-0.

It was all Rochester in the tournaments, with the locals taking first in the district, regional, and Big Nine meets. Don Ramthun led the Rochester team in the state meets by taking third place in the singles division. The doubles team of Lester Feigel and Bob Reid advanced to the second round before bowing to the championship pair. Bob Iversrud was eliminated in the first round by the second place winner.

Only two Rocket netsters, Iversrude and Feigel, graduated last year. Since the other four boys on the squad were only sophomores last year, they will form the nucleus of this year's squad.

GOLF

Coach Wendell McKibben's 1949 Rocket golf squad completed its season with a record of six wins and one loss and a first in the District III tournament.

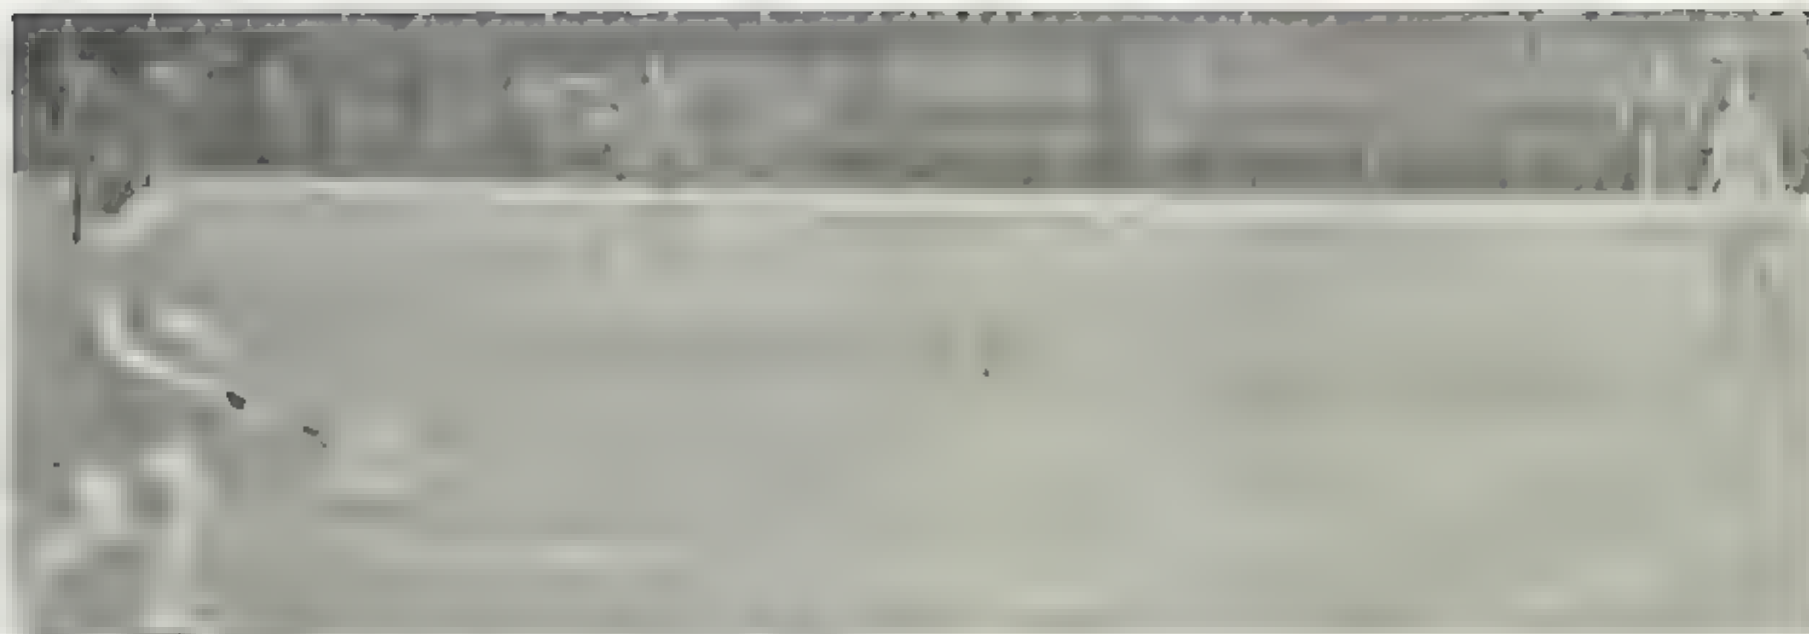

The Rockets opened the season with a 10-2 victory over Winona, and followed up with wins over Red Wing, Mankato, Faribault, and Northfield. The locals suffered their only setback at the hands of Austin, when they were edged by the Packers 7-5 in the last meet of the season.

Rochester went on to take first in the District III tourney, but had some trouble in the Regional meet and took third. In the Big Nine meet, the Rocket squad finished fourth in competition to end the season's play.

Only one regular, Albert Toddie, will be back from last year's squad. Dale Wobschall, Charles Souders, and Donald Moffett were the seniors who graduated last year. Golf prospects who will be shooting for spots on this year's team are Robert Toddie, Don Backstrom, Dave Roth, Dick Williams, and Dick Bennett.

Homecoming

Queen Donna Hull reigned over the 1949 homecoming festivities. She was attended by seniors Dot Essex and Carol Tendick, juniors Janice Hagaman and Nancy Edwards, and sophomores Marles Gronvold and Mary Johnston. Coronation ceremonies took place on the afternoon of Friday, November 14. Immediately after the program, a homecoming parade went through downtown Rochester. Spectators watched the varied floats pass by, many of which featured the official homecoming slogan, "Wing the Wingers!" The floats were judged for originality and appearance. The First-place float featured a group of "Fiji Islanders," and second place was taken by a "jail" containing a flock of red-winged chickens. Another winning float is shown at the bottom of the page.

In the evening of homecoming day, Rochester Senior High School was host to the Red Wing "Wingers." Three winning floats and the queen and her attendants were presented to the football fans during the half-time of the game.

Although the Rockets were defeated by the Red Wing team, school spirit was still high at the dance which was held in Coffman Hall after the game. Clayton Tiede's orchestra provided music for the large crowd which attended, and refreshments were available. When the dance ended at midnight, it was the close of a busy day of homecoming festivities, ceremonies, and football for the Rocket players and their fans.

Harvest Dance

The north and south gyms were the scene of another Harvest Dance on November 16 with Gar Kuhfuss and his orchestra providing the dance music. Students dressed as funny and weird characters, danced polkas, waltzes and schottisches in the north gym which was gaily decorated around the theme of "Scarecrows." In the south gym, basketball, volleyball, and ping pong provided entertainment for the more sports-minded students. Bob Hanson, the M.C., awarded prizes for the most appropriate, funniest and most original costumes. A quartet composed of Frank Pendle, Don Halloran, Brandy Weirs, and Jim Larson, with Leo Kreter as accompanist sang "Shine On Harvest Moon." The Julius Caesar skit provided much humor. Refreshments were served throughout the evening.

Yuletide Festivities

Using a scrim background of Christmas all over the world, the choir sang many different types of carols. Each song had a different soloist who appeared as an image behind the scrim. Narrators, Jeannine Brown and Roger Nelson, laid the scenes for the choral numbers which centered around the theme, "Christmas in Different Lands."

The scene below was taken at the annual Christmas Party showing the students dancing to the music of Rollo Sissel and his orchestra.

As a result of the efforts of this year's hard working class members, the Junior Prom was one of the highlights of this year's social activities.

Working around the theme "Land of Make Believe" the juniors converted Coffman Hall into a fantasy of fairy land. Cinderella, Prince Charming, Red Riding Hood, and The Three Little Pigs were only a few of the characters reigning over the dance.

Henry Burton's music and the skillfully planned program also helped to make this party long remembered. The chorus line's "You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby," Little Red Riding Hood's witty remarks, and the North Pacific penguin acts were proof-positive of the talent in the junior class.

Bill Anton and Pam Brown re-enact a scene from Red Riding Hood. (Anton is wearing a mask.)

Oswald Dance

This year's Oswald Dance was held the night of Saturday, March 11, in Coffman Hall, and featured a program in which ten Oswald figures were awarded to students who had made some unusual accomplishment. Music was furnished by records and a group of students. Master of ceremonies was Duane Witt, who read a poem about each of the Oswald recipients. Another featured attraction who wasn't there was Fred MacMurray, who was in Rochester at the time, but couldn't come to the program.

After the Oswalds were presented, a quartet made up of four local singers of considerable local fame, sang "Ode to Oswald." These students, who went to great trouble to shrink themselves to a scant three feet in height just for the program, were Leo Kreter, Marvin Heins, Bob Rynearson, and Don Hilton. Their song described some of the foibles of several prominent faculty members and students, much to the amusement of their audience.

Refreshments were provided by a committee, and the student council social committee planned the dance. The program was planned by a special student group.

The awarding of Oswalds was originated at Rochester Senior High School four years ago, although the idea was based on the Oscars which are given to Academy Award winners.

Coffman Hall ---

The activities of Coffman Hall were many and varied throughout the year. The ping pong tables were seldom left idle, put to use by amateurs as well as the champions. We had the opportunity to dance to the music of the finest bands in the country, on records. Cards and checkers were played by those non-dancers, and for all, the coke machines performed and the snack bar was a popular site.

Homeroom Programs

A great variety of talent and ideas was demonstrated in this year's homeroom programs. Last fall, the homerooms signed up for the Friday nights on which they were to have charge of Coffman Hall. Most of them presented skits or similar entertainments to go with the refreshments and records that we have there. These programs were largely responsible for the crowds that enjoyed themselves in Coffman Hall on Friday nights, and because of the many people who attended, the Hall was kept open for nearly every Friday night of the year.
